“Formula 1: All The Races is never far from my reach and I strongly recommend it as a ‘must have’ for everyone who counts himself or herself as a true fan of F1, the fastest sport on the planet.” David Croft

This remarkable book is the third edition of an acclaimed work telling the extraordinary story of the Formula 1 world championship. Formula 1: All The Races has been meticulously researched and written to capture the character and essence of every one of the 935 World Championship races held from the beginning of Formula 1 in 1950 to the end of the 2015 season.

In 668 densely packed pages, Formula 1: All The Races describes in remarkable depth each of the 935 Grand Prix races that have been instrumental in deciding 66 enthralling battles for the Formula 1 Drivers’ World Championship. Each entry highlights the key events of each Grand Prix from qualifying through to the final outcome as well as spotlighting those incidental happenings so unique to F1 that influenced a race or an unfolding championship battle.

At the heart of Formula 1: All The Races are the author’s unique ‘Race Pods’. These blend words with statistics to produce a dynamic report for each race. Accompanying the race coverage are splendid colour illustrations by Alain Baudouin together with a series of atmospheric photographs superbly portraying the evolution of Formula 1.
